 VILLA

Villa La Volpe” can trace its history back as far as the 18th century, when it was a hunting lodge. Here in this part of the Lucchese countryside, noblemen built their summer villas and here they came in the spring and summertime to spend their holidays. The villa is situated in a lovely spot, surrounded by monumental historic villas, among vineyards and olive groves and has been completely restored and renovated while maintaining the charm of a typical house of the Tuscan countryside.
